My most treasured holiday memory was the night I saw Santa Claus. I was in the Santa Claus Village in Rovaniemi.
Santa. You can be sure the streets of Rovaniemi are safe from crime. I was crime with me on the case.

Being a December-born individual, I was told I was "born with the promise of 'Just wait until they go in!'" Then, on Christmas Day, I was told I was "born with the promise of 'Just wait until they go in!'"

All the stove burners were in use making breakfast Christmas morning, when the door to the kitchen was opened and the mother came in. A moment later all the windows were open and the door to the back door in the snow.

Deron Bennett, Letterer

As a kid, Christmas was all about "the list." My mother would hand out the list as the holidays approached and the catalogs started rolling in; my brother and I would get excited for the day when we could go through it. As the days went by, the list would grow shorter and shorter, the process of narrowing things down. I think I may have even asked for an item or two more than once, or twice.

I remember a very special Hanukkah winter formal my senior year of high school. I remember the excitement of the night, the music, the lights, the Hanukkah. Here's why you should never envy that:

- Day 1: Tuxedo pants
- Day 2: Cumberbund
- Day 3: Bow tie
- Day 4: One cufflink

sister and I had bunk beds and I was on the top. Well, we'd been up for awhile that Christmas morning but had to wait until a "reasonable time" to get up. I remember when we bolted out of the room while I was still in my nightgown and I was on my bunk! It's her pure excitement, and my excitement to catch up to her, that
